ONE-LINER

Trumpet meets electronics in jazz

SHORT BIO

Trumpet, piano, composition – Studnitzky | KY moves effortlessly between jazz, classical, and electronic music, creating a unique sonic universe where genres dissolve and musical boundaries fade into pure emotion and innovation.

BIO

STUDNITZKY SOLO is a fascinating journey through the sonic universe of multi-instrumentalist Sebastian Studnitzky. His virtuosic playing on trumpet and piano is always in service of deeply emotional compositions that transcend conventional genres and carry a timeless quality. Subtle electronics gently support this musical voyage, woven in organically like an additional instrument. The result is an intense and eclectic sound world where the finest elements are employed with complete modesty.

STUDNITZKY is a truly unique artist whose elegant crossing of genres has become stylistically influential and has earned him multiple awards. Beyond receiving the ECHO Jazz Award, Studnitzky has performed worldwide, touring with leading electronic musicians. He also composes for classical orchestras and teaches as a professor at the universities of Berlin and Dresden. With the XJAZZ Festival in Berlin, he has created a format that resonates internationally. All of this boundless creative energy is distilled and brought to its essence in his solo project.
