ONE-LINER

Berlin meets Odesa—improvised virtuosity beyond genres

SHORT BIO

Life-changing times create strong collaborations. These two souls from Odesa and Berlin meet to celebrate beautifully improvised art. Pokaz, classical pianist and teacher at Odesa Conservatory, is one of Ukraine's leading jazz pianists. Studnitzky, XJAZZ Festival founder, is known for his emotional sound beyond genres. United by virtuoso playing and curious exploration between jazz, classical and electronica.

BIO

This new duo project by Berlin-based multi-instrumentalist Sebastian Studnitzky and Odessa-based pianist Andrii Pokaz emerged right in the midst of challenging and life-changing times.
The two musicians, whose life situations could not be more different, come together to celebrate wonderfully improvised art.
Andrii Pokaz studied and teaches classical piano at the Odessa Conservatory, but has also become one of the leading jazz pianists in Ukraine. Studnitzky is known for his very personal and emotional sound and style beyond genres and is also founder of the XJAZZ Festival Berlin. Both are united by their virtuoso and unpretentious playing on their instruments and their curious exploration of different styles such as jazz, classical and electronica.
